INTERNATIONAL TEACHING AND OTHER RELATED EXPERIENCE

USAID Farmer-to-Farmer Program Yirgalem, Ethiopia: Summer 2001
Designed and co-taught intensive three-week course on advanced accounting methodologies to twenty senior accountants of Ethiopia's farmer cooperatives. Within this course, I emphasized the place of gender roles and stereotypes in the public and private sectors, specifically as they relate to business, marketing, and the economy.

Grant Writing, Marketing Director Outreach Health Services, 1996-1997

LISP Computer Language (List Processing) University of Arizona, Fall 1999
Learned to program in this language and then rhetorically analyzed the language in fulfillment of the second-language requirement. This use and analysis of the language furthered my study of the rhetorics of technology. Within my analysis I argue that, like other languages, the ideologies embedded within the LISP language shape and constrain what can be created and ultimately produced with that language.

Student Exchange Study Abroad Programs Graceland University
