The CAS Computer Committee Fall 2016 Semester Report

The CAS Computer Committee has taken as its charge the responsibility to act as liaisons between CAS departments and the University with regard to technology such as; online development and instruction, software support, hardware, infrastructure and new technology as it develops on campus. To that end this semester the committee has met with representatives from USF Information Technology and USF Research Computing to learn about important developments in these areas including catalog and service changes, wireless network access, faculty outreach and improvements in existing technology. CAS department members are encouraged to contact committee members for more information concerning these updates. The committee also requests that departments communicate any areas of interest or concern with regard to IT to committee members so we can investigate those areas further.
